... the junior high,

Three hundred fifty-six students make up the junior high section of Central High School this year. Ninety-six make up the four sections of seventh grade. The one hundred sixteen students in eighth grade are divided into four sections.

The freshman class, consisting of one hundred forty-four, is organized on the same plan as senior high. Class meetings are held whenever there is some business which concerns the class. The officers of the freshman class are: president, Paul Bjerke; vice-president, Adele Peterson; secretary, Victor Moose; treasurer, Judy Wik; and the student council representatives are Betty Norman, Janet Moe, Paul Peterson, and Leslie Saue. The freshman class advisors are Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Parsons, Mr. Holden, and Mr. Hubbard.

The seven ones have Mr. Eliason as their advisor. Their officers are: president, Marc Brown; vice-president, Marilyn Oyen; secretary-treasurer, Karen Alstad; and their student council representative is Lorraine Oakland.

Mr. Crews is the advisor of the eight fours. Marge Jo Ettesvold presides over their meetings and if she is absent vice-president, Frank Gniffke, takes over. Sandra Johnson is in charge of the minutes and treasury. Norma Olien is their student council representative.

The junior high students are being highly represented this year in musical organizations which include band, orchestra, chorus, and a number of ensembles.

In our junior high chorus there are about twenty-one seventh graders, forty-two eighth graders and thirty-one freshmen. In this group there are sixty-nine girls and twenty-five boys. Chorus meets in two parts most of the time, but sometimes they all meet together. The girls meet at 8:20 on Monday and Thursday mornings and the boys on Tuesday and Friday mornings.

This year we have both a senior and junior high band. There are about seventy students in junior high band while there are about twenty-five junior high students in senior band.

Numerous ensembles are being started in both the vocal and instrumental music departments.

Follow in our footsteps

Miss Miller is the seven two's class advisor. Their officers are: president, Kristin Borsgard; vice-president, Wanda Van Gorp; secretary-treasurer, Robert Beltz; and the student council representative is Sara Larson.

The seven three's advisor is Mr. Jauss. Diane Dilley presides over their meetings and if she is absent vice-president Kern Rodeberg takes over. Sharon McAuliffe takes the minutes and is in charge of the treasury. Dean Schulke is their student council representative.

Mr. Miller is the advisor of the seven fours. Their officers are: president, Judy Olsen; vice-president, Jill Harding; secretary-treasurer, Coralie Holland; and the student council representative is Carol Hein.

The eight ones have as their advisor Mr. Johnson. Their officers are: president, Maurice Nokleby; vice-president, William Strommer; secretary-treasurer, Dennis Johnson; and their student council representative is Sybil Stokke.

The eight two's advisor is Miss Sandager. Their president is Larry Nordby; vice-president, Jim Jensen; secretary-treasurer, Ronald Solheim, and they are represented in student council by Neil Gulden.

Mr. Emkovik is the eight three's advisor. The class officers are: president, Ronald Anderson; vice-president, Maxine Moe; secretary-treasurer, Janice Marholz, and their student council representative is Ronald Anderson.

One of the many extra-curricular activities is G. A. A. This year there are about one hundred girls taking part in it. It is under the direction of Miss Barsness. The officers are: president, Judy Wik; vice-president, Linda Dilley; secretary, Frances Olsen, and treasurer, Kay Perkins. During the year there are activities such as bowling, basketball, volleyball, and kittenball. Activity heads are chosen for each activity.

The Student Council is composed of representatives from each class. The council selects dates for class parties and discusses problems and activities of the junior high. Miss Edna Johnson is the advisor. The officers for the council are: president, Betty Norman; vice-president, Ronald Anderson; and secretary, Sybil Stokke. Other members of the council are: seventh grade—Lorraine Oakland, Sara Larson, Dean Schulke, and Carol Hein; eighth grade—Neil Gulden and Norma Olien; ninth grade—Paul Peterson, Janet Moe, and Leslie Saue.

Journalism is another interesting activity under the direction of Miss Miller. The junior high paper, The Mohawk Messenger, is published every six weeks. The editors are Lee Rau and Grace Gallagher. There are about fifty other students on the staff.

Mr. Jauss coaches about twenty-six freshmen boys in basketball. He also coaches about the same number of eighth graders, with the help of Mr. Emkovik.

Considering all these activities we see that the Junior High is a very active part of Central High School.

climbing the ladder. . . .

SEPTEMBER . . .

On the seventh, 119 pairs of feet hustled toward the big red schoolhouse and on the fifteenth and sixteenth, 119 heads bent over odious Iowa Tests. To demonstrate the art of pig-skin pegging, Sauk Centre appeared the seventeenth and on the twenty-fourth Montevideo played host to Glenwood.

OCTOBER . . .

We invaded the home of the Kilowatts the first. Though thoroughly saturated, we made a success of our Snake Dance and Pow-wow followed by "Jeans and Feather Day" and Carol's coronation. Our napkin float gallantly burst through the fog at half-time of our tussle with Appleton the eighth. The Willmar Cardinals invited us to their Homecoming; and after the MEA Convention the twenty-first and twenty-second, during which our relentless magazine campaign surpassed all records, we ended our final high school football season in battles against Morris, Litchfield, and Benson.

NOVEMBER . . .

The feet of three seniors journeyed to Albert Lea for the State Student Council Convention the fourth and fifth. The weekend of the eighteenth, the junior thespians presented "Our Miss Brooks," and the following week our basketball season opened in a game with Minneapolis West High. The "Turkey Trot" of the twenty-sixth, made more successful by previous dancing classes, spirited our Thanksgiving vacation.

DECEMBER . . .

Returning from Morris the third, we eagerly anticipated the oncoming rivals, Canby. The spirit of Christmas pervaded the auditorium the sixteenth with the high school Christmas program. The long trip to Glenwood did not dampen the enthusiasm with which we planned to defeat Granite.

JANUARY . . .

Recovering from a welcome vacation, our basketball team met Sauk Centre, Madison, Appleton, Litchfield, and Dawson in rapid succession. District debate and twenty-sixth preceded our last January basketball game at Willmar the twenty-eighth.

FEBRUARY . . .

This month was a myriad of basketball games with Benson, Appleton, Ortonville, Marshall, Willmar, and Clarkfield, broken only by Regional and State Debate Meets the second and nineteenth, and the District One-Act Plays the twenty-eighth.

MARCH . . .

March came in like a lion with two weeks of sub-district and district tourneys. Regional basketball at St. Peter followed close on the heels of the District Speech Festival the fourteenth. The Regional One-Act Play Meet at Dawson was held three days before an army of students, three hundred strong, invaded Minneapolis hotels for the State Basketball Tournaments the twenty-fourth, twenty-fifth, and twenty-sixth. The Regional Speech Meet at Clarkfield concluded another hectic month.

APRIL . . .

April festivals included State Drama and Speech the second and twenty-second, District Vocal at Appleton on the twenty-third, and District Instrumental the following weekend at Montevideo and Ortonville.

MAY . . .

Climbing the final step, we presented our class play on May fifth, sixth, and seventh; and spring sports opened with the District Golf Meet the fourteenth. The long-awaited senior trip became a reality the twelfth through the fifteenth. Our last season of spring sports ended with the District Track Meet, baseball tournaments the week of the twenty-third, and Regional Track and Golf Meets at Ortonville and Madison. Baccalaureate was a solemn ending to the month of May.

JUNE . . .

The top of the ladder. Our Commencement the third at eight o'clock, State Golf Meet, Track and Field Meet the sixth and seventh, vacation, college, work our history, delving into

The Bell! The Bell! The B-I-L! As our knowledge was increased, we changed this cry to B-E-L and then to B-E-L-L.

Although our kindergarten equipment was not the most elaborate, we had a grand time with treats, milk, crackers. Sue Iverson was called Sandra all year because she was too shy to tell them any differently.

Barb Rodeberg was the envy of the first grade class at Sibley because she got to play the drum in the rhythm band.

In a play presented for Mother's Club, "Rabbit", Rog Paulson unfortunately stubbed his toe, but a sweet little girl called Marcia patched up for him.

Larry Norton sent an enormous valentine with all his love to one lass in the second grade. Our favorite story was "Mr. Chatterbox, the "Chipmunk", and one girl was unfortunate enough to inherit the title.

"Soldier cap — knapsack — gun — aim — fire!" The day was very special when dear Miss Powers came as a substitute.

In third grade at Hillcrest, Miss Heideman asked Grace to clean her cupboard in return for scraps of colored paper. These she piled on a chair. Enraged with jealousy Rog Paulson tipped over the chair and Grace began to cry. Having found some little tin paint dishes, she shared her discovery with Mary Jane Krum and the two decided to confiscate a few and some paste brushes. The act of crime was carried out successfully, but as they were leaving there was the teacher! And misery of miseries — a dish fell from Mary's coat pocket and clattered down the stairs — tolling the knell for their doom. They returned the dishes — and kept the paste brushes.

The Watson gang — Shirley Olson, Chuck Jacobs, Larrie Quam, Sonja Mitling, and Joey Aamot always ate lunch at school and ruined their digestion running up and down the halls immediately thereafter.

Glady's opened — oh, joyous day — and everyone tramped out on Saturday afternoons for roller-skating, games, and prizes.

Mary Jane Krum and John Kurtzbein were sweethearts in fourth grade and everyone who was anyone played on the "Texas Trail" during the noon hour.

Batting contests were the rage of the fifth grade class, and Shirley Olson was much in demand due to her prowess. Palmer Method Penmanship Certificates became the prized possessions of Lorraine Agre, Barb Bouska, Danny Blank, Floyd Hagen, and many others.

Intra-sixth grade basketball teams called for cheerleaders, and Roma Kutzik, Pam Claggett, and Andy Brown were elected. Many girls competed for places in Miss Dunton's Triple Trio that same year.

the past

Some interesting couples were formed in the seventh grade — Jim Stamson and Grace Webb, Harry Bolt and Mary Jane Krum, Sue Iverson and Roger Paulson, Betty Swanson and Gordon Randgaard (ever hear of holding feet in movies?) — party followed party all year long. Gym began that year and since those horrible, grueling efficiency tests dragged everyone's marks down, many were kept off the Honor Roll.

This same year the boys became avowed woman haters much to every young charmer's dismay.

John Peterson became prominent as a photographer in our freshman year, and Kenny Olsen gave rides to all in his blue plumbing truck. Everyone felt very learned after algebra class. The class became quite social-minded that year being able to attend the Stu-ner Club, square dances, and the Homecoming Dance.

The horrified faces of everyone in Miss Ronshaugen's tenth grade biology class were something to see as she dealt out preserved worms in a very cold-blooded manner. Mr. Collison looked like just another kid in his stocking cap at the class skating party.

Our reputation as a class which can't be topped rose to the fore in our junior year as we topped all previous records in sales with our play, "The Green Bough." Selecting and getting our class rings united us as a class and many, needless to say, changed hands soon after. "Winter Wonderland" and "Heart Hop" were two unforgettable productions which started the trend toward dancing once more.

Then came the fall of '54 and everyone returned well-tanned and ready for their one and only senior year. It didn't seem possible—we certainly didn't feel like seniors! On the first day Mr. Maursetter reminded us that every senior should have "faultless decorum!" Hmm, Carol Anderson was a very lovely queen and Ann Louise Sylvander and Mary Schneider made charming princesses. The magazine campaign surpassed all previous records, exceeding the four thousand dollar mark in gross sales. The top salesmen in each were Carol Anderson, Vondie Swenson, Barb Rodeberg, and Dale Teigen. Shirley Olson acted as general manager. Pictures were taken early so that they could be sent in for the annual. Class meetings also discussed the annual, caps and gowns, the class play (which is still ahead as we write this) and of course, the class trip. Even the most hardhearted will feel a tug at their heart-strings as the Great, Inimitable Class of '55 leaves the halls of Monte High forever.

our will, leaving our

Ole Ostenso, that muscle-bound football hero of the senior class, bequeaths his prowess to an aspiring star, Len Grimm.

The lilting laughter of Bev Skoog will now be heard through Jeanie Johnson.

"Big Ben" Bonnie Olson gives her Atlas physique to Mouse Bofferding.

Floyd Hagen's leadership goes to Tim Ondahl, an orator of great renown.

The selling ability of Marcia (Pepsodent Smile) Holm is conferred upon Margaret Peterson.

Mary Jane Krum bids au revoir to John Puckropp, a fellow comedian.

Mabel Velde will wear the apron of Bev Mills at future FHA meetings.

The lengthy locks of Maxine Botten will next be seen on her sister Dorothy.

Harvey Huseby gives his delivery boy techniques to Tom Holen.

Man of the World, John Ekberg, leaves to Peter Bishop his membership in the P. S. U. (Pink Shirt Union).

"General" Rich Mills transfers his share of good old M. H. S. to Odell Hamre and Doug Maus.

Betty Swanson gives her infallible technique to another "femme fatale" Karen Standing.

In order to confuse the teachers, Janice and Jean Sunderland leave their last name to another lovely lass, June.

Ralph Weflen yields his place in FFA to Dave Brovold.

The battered and scarred football helmet of Kenny Olsen goes to Pete Hennstad.

To Marilyn Jordahl go the thespian abilities of Sarah Bernhardt, Pam Claggett.

Three shy (?) senior girls, Joann Severson, Carol Saue, and Bev Jacobs, decided to leave this fetching characteristic to Dennis Marble.

Daredevil Dick Bluth wills his driving antics to Dodgem Don Knight.

Denny Hanson's first chair position as trombonist is relinquished to Floyd Gustafson.

Marilyn Rietveld is very fortunate in inheriting the homemaking abilities of the efficient Joan Anderson.

Peter Savolainen bestows his European passport upon Jerry Ree, who might someday be in need of it.

Chuckie Peterreins leaves her diamond to Janice Wilkinson . . . or does she keep it?

Rita Peden receives the library know-how of Audrey Halvorson.

humorous traits

Shirley Olson and Andy Brown's love of out-of-town places and people will be shared by Gail Behrens and Dorothy Lanes.

The cherubic nature of Jim Stamson goes to angelic Andy.

Two look-alikes, LaVilla Anderson and June Rikke, offered to bequeath this phenomenon to Pat Conrad and Pat Gidden.

Alvina Huth and Lois Kittelson confer their never-failing presence at Glady's to Janice Lysholm and Bernice Allen.

Bill of sale: One Ford coupe from Rog Paulson to Ronnie Ree

Roma Kutzik and Verlie Anderson, two super salesmen, decided they could spare some of the said quality for Sharon Heideman, Margaret Benson, and Barbara Eberhard.

The one and only Bob Graue will be endowed with the stentorian voice of "Caruso" Jim Kern.

Willard Mathiason abandons his collection of pens and pencils to Kerrine Gilsrud.

Barb Frommel yields her faithful presence in band to Jim Acers.

The reserved manners and quiet ways of Pat Winters and Joann Densmore are their bequest to Andrey Borg and Janet Abel.

Having seen dance teachers in action, Snoo Berg states that she would be only too happy to instruct Bill Weber in the art of interpretive dancing.

Arla Raffelson and John Bangsund retire from the files of "Ernie's little helpers", leaving their place to Keith Graves and Rich Jacobson.

The captivating personality of Ann Louise Sylvander is given to Janice Lovhaug, another lovely lass.

Elton Shimp will not leave anything — least of all Gloria Macziewski.

To Bryan Peterson goes the lilting voice of Mary Schneider, in hopes that the high notes will be made a little easier for him.

Sonja Mitling yields her chair in the hot lunch room to Adrian Kibler.

The tall, dark, and handsome of the senior class — Monte Hudson — transfers these adjectives to DeLane Johnson.

To bosom buddies, Annette Danielson and Karen Peterson, will their bond of friendship to Dewaine Keifer and Gerald Borene.

David Strommer leaves his kinsman at the mercy of Marlys Kranz.

Carol West receives the ready retorts when needed of Maureen Ettesvold.

John Andrisen bequeaths his non-partisan temperament to Phil Roe and Tim Hunt.

Dorothy Nokleby and Karen Hemmingson's motto, "I can sell anybody anything," is extended to Mary Klucas and Jeanette Rekstad.

For his own good, Dave Olson will receive Irene Oakland's cautious driving habits.

The hearty — if often inopportune — laugh of Arnold (Lefty) Lange goes to Arlen Steenhoven.

David (Robin Hood) Oakland leaves his most prized possession—a "deer"—to Jim Sandvik, another long bowman. (Don't get the wrong idea, June!)

Ruby Pederson, a never-failing source of jokes, hands some of her choicest ones to John Krum.

to the class of

Dave McClung is fortunate in being willed the superb height of Bill Beltz. (Never fear, Dave, all good things come in small packages!)

Arnie Gulden promises that he will not pester Marlys and Freddy as he did Rog Myhre and Mary Olsen.

Arlene Moe presents her wonderful secretarial talents to Marilyn Anderson and Eunice Hamborg.

Danny Blank's bequest to Jim Severson, a fellow golfer—his precious irons.

The always smart appearance of Joey Aamot goes to Jean Ettesvold.

Norman "Adverb" Sampson has kindly consented to leave the school intact.

A glittering collection of class rings formerly owned by Janice Larson will now be seen on the fingers of Sally Keintz.

The vast historic knowledge of Dale Teigen will now be implanted in the brain of Marlene Skeie.

Ardeth Boettcher and Lorraine Agre bestow their knowledge of the Dewey Decimal System upon Gail Sederstrom and Lavonne Peterson.

John Peterson "lens" his camera to Elizabeth Anderson.

The dancing atmosphere at "Lorraine's" will now be absorbed by Glennis Haugerud instead of Mary Prien.

Delbert McClure (that lucky boy) is getting something he sorely needs — height from Harlis Nordaune.

Mary Ann Klefstad inherits Barb Rode-berg's ability to "spin the wheel."

Rich Christians passes by the junior class in his preoccupation with a lower one.

Going on the basis that little things mean a lot, Betty Hanson wills her stature to Lois Mettling.

Joe "Hero" Andrisen leaves his medals and women to Dean Gulden.

The queenly attributes of Carol Anderson are reserved for the next Homecoming Queen.

Donald Syde and John Kunkel are getting the deeeep voices of Lloyd Christians and Sharon Simenstad.

Leona Van Heuveln and Barb Ryman gladly shift all popcorn-popping and ticket-taking to Dodo Moe, Joan Steenson, Barb Van Heuveln, and Nancy Angrimson.

A very likeable scene-shifter, Larrie Quam, bequeaths his reliability to Steve Bonn.

Myrtice Tostenson receives the charming bedside manner of Lorraine Olson.

Chuck Jacobs leaves the robbing of the Watson Bank to Sharon Haug, who upon entering Mr. Maursetter's class will understand what we mean.

The golden friendship of Virginia Eid and Barbara Bouska is left to those hearty comrades, Bayard Gordon and Dennis Gottsch.

Arden Trandahl's way with the women will be apportioned to Paul Wolffe (get it?) and Donnie Wig.

Sue Weber wills her ability to trip the light fantastic to Danny (Arthur Murray for short) Hocum.

The "I can drive anybody crazy" philosophy of Larry Norton and Rog Linnee goes to Jerald Minsaas, Warren Mohn, and Almon Mix.

John Kurtzbein's love of MHS will be instilled in Dwight Nash.

Those outside interests of Carol Sawert and Vonnie Swenson will be shared with Kay Keilen and Phyllis Redepenning.

Lyle Hoidal has offered to let Max Hinde carry the suitcases for him.

The vocab of Susan Nelson goes to the "Man with the Horn"—Jack Miller.

Harlan Moseng trusts Bob Jahn to keep the tenors from walking on the basses in chorus next year.

An all-round gal, Mary Ann Vomacka, leaves her many qualities to an all-round guy, Gary Knutson.

As his legacy Don Einerson warns Gordy Bentson, "Don't commit Teenicide." (See calendar in room 212.)

Ginger Birhanzl leaves her biological knowledge to Pat TerEick and Barbara Femrite.

An odd assortment of cars from David Offerman and Donnie Bentson will be dumped on the doorstep of David Bouska.

Sue Iverson's way with the football men is allotted to Greta Borgen.

Bruce Lanes promises to look after Douglas Norman's "affaires d'amour".

Petite Dianne Lachelt and Helen Hanson present a copy of "Gulliver's Travels" to Lavonne Ladwig.

Midge Blake and Bruce Swenson leave their happy-go-lucky ways to Joey and Wesley Burg.

The intellect of Clair Knorr will be divided between Richard Sampson and Darwood Sandburg.

A girl who is handy with a crayon, Shirley Maus, leaves the wielding of such utensils to Janice Norman and Julene Groothuis.

Instead of bequeathing something, Harlan Olson asked us to announce, "A calf strayed from my farm two weeks ago."

Arlyne Johnson wills her secretarial interests to Evelyn Van Dellen.

Since nothing in the senior class appeals to Harry Olsen—he will receive nothing.

We, the aforementioned class of 1955, being of sound mind, do ordain and declare said legacies to be our last will and testament.

and our prophecy,

We sure have had fun haven't we?²¹
Well, I don't know what to say so I'll write it down to take up space!

So long and take it easy on ferry. (Boy what a crush! :))
I suppose I'll have to see you this summer & I say more(?)

then. So long again and take care of yourself and the boy.
Your neighborhood,
Margaret Mill

Hi Connie
I don't know what you got me scratching in here for but you asked for it. I hope enjoy your few yrs.
high school as much as I did. Be good but have some fun anyway.
Best wishes,
Kathy

Hi Connie
The end of the year has finally come & I hope we'll have as much fun this summer
as we had during school. Remember all the Sunday afternoons at the shows where we had a lot of fun
together this year
& I hope it continues
